

Definitions (Con't)

5. Planned Unit Development (PUD): An area of land devoted by its owner to development as a single entity for a number of dwelling units, and commercial uses in accordance with a plan which does not necessarily comply with the provisions of this ordinance with respect to lot size, lot coverage, setbacks, off-street parking, bulk or type of dwelling, density and other regulations.

6. Plan: Plans for development of land approved for PUD's shall be processed in accordance with procedures established in the Santa Rosa County Subdivision Regulations. The preliminary development plan is to be submitted to the Santa Rosa County Planning Department and County Engineer with the preliminary plat. The final development plan is submitted in the same manner for final plat approval. All terms, conditions and stipulations made at the time of approval for PUD's shall be binding upon the applicant or any successors in interest. Deviations from approved plans not approved as a minor or substantial change as set forth in this ordinance or failure to comply with any requirement, condition or safeguard shall constitute a violation of these zoning regulations.

Time Limitations

Planned Unit Development Time Limitations: If substantial construction, as determined by the Planning Director, has not begun within two (2) years after approval of the PUD under Article D hereof, the approval of the PUD will lapse. The Planning Director may extend the period for beginning construction, at the request of the owner. If the PUD lapses under this provision, the Planning director shall cause the PUD district to be removed from the official zoning map, mail a notice by registered mail of revocation to the owner and reinstate the zoning district which was in effect prior to the approval of the PUD.

This brochure is only to be used as an overall help tool for the general public.

Note: Land Development Code is subject to change.

Purpose

It is the purpose of this article to permit PUD's which are intended to encourage the development of land as planned communities, encourage flexible and creative concepts of site planning; preserve the natural amenities of the land by encouraging scenic and functional open areas; accomplish a more desirable environment that would not be possible through the strict application of the minimum requirements of these regulations; provide for an efficient use of land resulting in smaller networks of streets and utilities where access to regional systems is impractical and thereby lowering development and housing costs; and provide a stable environmental character compatible with surrounding areas.

Permitted Uses

The uses permitted within this district shall include the following:

- a. Residential units, including single-family attached and detached dwelling, two-family dwellings, and multiple-family dwellings.
- b. Churches, schools, community or club buildings and similar public and semi-public facilities.
- c. Non-residential uses, including commercial or retail uses, (as secondary uses serving the development only) offices, clinics and professional uses.

Density

The average density permitted in each PUD shall be established by the Planning Director by examining the existing surrounding density, adequacy of existing and proposed public facilities and services and site characteristics. However, the maximum density allowed in any PUD shall be one-hundred and fifty (150) percent of the highest permitted density of any residential district.

Relation to Zoning Districts

An approved PUD shall be considered to be a separate zoning district in which the development plan, as approved, established the restrictions and regulations according to which the development shall occur. Upon approval, the official Zoning Map will be changed to indicate the area as PUD.

In addition to the definitions contained in Article 3 of the Land Development Code, the following terms, phrases, words and derivations shall have the following meaning:
